URGES AMERICANS TO EXTEND CREDIT

War Finance Corporation Chief Asserts Only by Long Term Accommodation Can U. S. Secure Big Business.

CHICAGO, April 25.—The importance of organizing American business so that long credits may be extended to European buyers in order to restore normal international trade conditions was the subject of an address here by Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation.

Mr. Meyer spoke before the sixth national foreign trade convention. After pointing out that the war had changed America from a debtor nation to a world creditor, Mr. Meyer urged the responsibility of this country to restore its industry and employment of labor and thus hasten the world's political and social peace. Present world conditions, he said, made unusual trade methods necessary.

"Our former international business associates," he added, "have used their resources so freely during the long struggle that they now temporarily lack the means to pay in the ordinary way. With their tremendous obligations and their depleted reserves they can spare no gold in exchange for goods which we might sell."

"Mutual interest determines the right policy," he continued. "From our point of view it is in our interest to market our products and to restore the commercial standing and prosperity of our customers. It is in their interest to restore their normal economic operations and their employment of labor."

Mr. Meyer then explained that it was with this view in mind that the treasury obtained authority from congress to lend $1,000,000,000 through the war finance corporation to American exporters to enable them to sell abroad on long-term credits. He suggested that it might be beneficial for foreign buyers to form groups by industries and give a joint obligation to American sellers.

One of the urgent needs of the situation, he went on, was for the development in this country of especially trained and equipped men as leaders in the international economic field. In closing he declared that when it came to the practical application of a league of nations the question which would be pressed for solution would be largely economic—questions which could only be dealt with by trained men with a knowledge of world economics. He urged the convention to take up the consideration of training such men.

NEW YORK, April 25.—The earl of Reading, retiring British ambassador to the United States, was eulogized in addresses and cable messages at a farewell dinner tendered him here last night by the Association of Foreign Correspondents of the United States. Representatives of many of the associated governments attended the banquet. After messages of respect from Rear Admiral Sims, Charles E. Hughes and other Americans, cablegrams from press organizations in various parts of the world were read.

Frank Dill, president of the association, and E. W. White, secretary, can correspondents of the London Daily News, paid tribute to the ambassador. The earl of Reading said that "from the newspapers we are led to believe there is a very keen censorship on the news from the peace conference," but added that "from what I see the censorship is not so keen to keep the news from the distinguished American correspondents."

"Whatever may be right, no one can expect to have all their ideals incorporated in the peace treaty," he said. "There must be some concessions and compromises."

"Today difficult problems are arising before the peace conference which appear for the moment to have no solution, but a way must be found to reconcile the differences, and I am not going to indulge in any gloomy forebodings."

On Bolshevikism, he said, "Bolshevism can not long exist with its present accompanying terrorism as it is in defiance of economic laws." Predicting peace will soon come, Lord Reading continued.

"There is much speculation as to whether Germany will sign the peace treaty, but it is more vital to Germany than to any other country that she sign the treaty. She must pay the penalty. She must meet the just terms just victors in order to restore Germany to her former condition."

Reading continued: "The jury was out only nine minutes. There was no demonstration in the courtroom. Fountain, after sentence was pronounced, continued to protest his innocence, stating that he was a special detail of 25 policemen from Baltimore guarded the jail and surrounded the courtroom."

Last night the negro was taken, heavily guarded, in an automobile to the steamboat for Baltimore, where he will be kept in the city jail until execution. No announcement has yet been made concerning the distribution of the $5,000 reward for the capture of the negro. A movement is on foot to have the fund turned over to a fund for the little girl the negro assaulted.

HUNS OUTLINE COUNTER-OFFERS

Germans Propose New Draft for League of Nations Program.

COPENHAGEN, April 25. (By the Associated Press).—The German counter-proposals to the league of nations are outlined in a long dispatch from Berlin.

The German draft proposes that the league shall embrace all belligerent states and all neutral states which were signatories of the Hague treaty, other states to be admitted by the consent of a majority of the members of the league but the Holy See to be admitted without this condition.

It is proposed that the league shall function through a congress of states and a world parliament, the former to be the chief administrative body, comprising representatives, with equal rights, all the governments. The world parliament is to be elected from the parliaments of each state, one representative for every million inhabitants, but no parliament to send more than 10 representatives.

Further, it is proposed that two special bodies be created, an international tribunal and a mediation bureau, to decide respectively questions of law and questions of interest. Every difference between states must be submitted to either body.

The draft regards war as an obsolete method of settling disputes. Therefore it plans that armaments shall be reduced to domestic requirements, with no armed ships except for the coast guard, naval police force and adequate coastal protection for each country. All straits and canals are to be internationalized. There must be no economic war unless recommended by the league as a measure of compulsion.

The draft also contains a labor agreement resembling the labor charter published in Paris.

Regarding colonial questions, it recognizes the principles of international administration for tropical colonies.

Worn Out In Mind and Body

Your child is quick to observe disturbances in your mental attitude or physical condition. And when he asks: "What's the matter Daddy?" there's a tone of solemn anxiety in his little voice. The depression stamped upon you reflects intensely upon him because of his profound solicitude. He at once drops his playthings and rushes to your side, but his happy smile has disappeared and his buoyant spirits are gone—replaced by a countenance of worry and a hearing of hopelessness.

You owe it to the happiness and welfare of your family to keep trim in body and keen in intellect. You are the sun and the inspiration of their lives. Dark, threatening clouds hover over their heads the instant you show signs of being "out of sorts" or "under the weather." Don't imperil their future by neglecting your health.

M'KELLAR RIDICULES OPPOSITION TO WILSON

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 25.—United States Senator Kenneth McKellar, of Memphis, Thursday night ridiculed the "round robin" signed by 27 of his colleagues in the senate, who pledged themselves not to vote for any peace treaty with the league of nations feature in it unless certain amendments they desired were adopted.

President Wilson, when he returned to the treaty of peace and it contains the league of nations that "round robin" will be the most completely burst agreement of the United States senate has ever seen," said Senator McKellar.

He gave unqualified opposition to President Wilson and branded the notion he had taken on the Italian question to the peace conference, saying that the president's recent declaration that that issue was a striking exemplification of one of his fourteen points, specifically stated there were to be no secret agreements between nations.

DIXIE'S WAR VETERANS WILL BE HONORED

ATLANTA, Ga., April 25.—A memorial to all Southern men who have fought in the nation's wars from the American revolution to the world war will be carved on the granite face of Stone Mountain near here, instead of the Confederate monument to the heroes of the Confederacy. It was announced here after a meeting of the Stone Mountain Memorial association.
